RAYBA's Philosophy . . .

Our in house basketball program is guided mainly toward an activity for our youth to be involved in a sport that is fun, active and has plenty of play time for all to advance their skills. The kids will have the opportunity to play with their friends, and a chance to make new friends. Kids will learn the positive effects of teamwork and the discipline of being involved in a team sport. Through practice, skills competition and games, fundamentals of basketball will be stressed in all age groups to learn more about playing basketball and to enhance skills.

Like our in house program, RAYBA travel basketball will continue to develop fundamentals and camaraderie of playing team sports. As the house program helps develop a strong travel program, a successful travel program will enhance our new Rogers High School teams. With travel ball at the younger ages (5-6 grades) we strive for more involvement at the onset of a higher level of competition. In the higher grades (7-8 grades), expectations should rise along with the competition. "A" teams strive to be as good as they can, "B" teams trying to reach their goals in a less demanding setting. By building on our in house and travel programs we're setting the framework for the Rogers Royals to have competitive high school teams.
